

Alumni Continue To Progress Afield

Alumni of B.Y.U. are continuing to use all of the school's best administrative assets as they continue to advance in various positions.

CHRISTENSEN

Margaret Christensen, '38, has received an appointment as assistant stenographer in the United States civil service.

Miss Christensen, daughter of Dr. P. A. Christensen of the English department, left last week for Washington, D. C. to begin her work.

PERRY

An assistantship in physics at the University of Wisconsin at Madison has been accepted by Richard Perry, '35.

Mr. Perry, a physics major, has continued graduate study in his field and has been electrical technician for the superintendent of building and campus.

HERBERT

Leo O. Herbert, '39, has been granted a fellowship in accounting and business administration at the University of Wisconsin at Madison, and will transfer to begin his advanced studies, accompanied by Mrs. Herbert.

Mr. Herbert has been employed at the university since June and is going to Fresno from Douglas, Arizona.

CLARK

J. Kent Clark, '39, was granted a teaching assistantship in English at Stanford University, where he recently completed examinations for a master's degree.

Mr. A. B. Hines was given with high honors. His major was English.

HARSTON

Charlotte Harston, of Cowley, Wis., and Sterling Olsen of Spokane, Wash., B.Y.U. graduates, have both received awards of scholarship for the coming year.

Mr. Harston is studying for his doctorate in soil bacteriology at the University of Missouri, and Mr. Olsen is working toward a Ph.D. in botany at Ohio State University.

MCARD

William B. McCard recently received an appointment to head the speech department at Cleveland College, according to word received by Neal Peterson, Alumni secretary.

Mr. McCard is a former Provo student.

Welcome to . . .

PROVO

THE FRIENDLY CITY

To the three thousand young men and women who will shortly enroll at Brigham Young University, we extend a hearty welcome and good wishes for a year of happiness and achievement.

We are proud of our modern, cultural, fast-growing city . . . and of the great University located here.

(MCARD)

WE WELCOME YOU TO BOTH!

Y-COMMUNITY CO-EXIST PROGRAM READY

Appears With Concert and Chorus

Paul Robeson

Paul Robeson, Negro Baritone, Will Appear in Provo November 18

Two announcements have been made favorably received by the community concert audience that the one promising the appearance of Paul Robeson, famed negro baritone who will come here November 18.

Most people are well acquainted with Mr. Robeson through radio and screen, and will welcome the opportunity to hear him in person.

He is to appear with Robeson Young University's own chorus in what is expected to be a notable program even among so many others of remarkable quality.

Mr. Robeson is internationally famous with his singing as well as his singing ability, and press reports indicate that even in the midst of his song his personality is not lost.

He made his debut as a public singer with a program of negro spirituals in New York City. The response was immediate and enthusiastic, and the concert was a success.

Since then his triumph has been a series of successes. He is destined to be in any other stage in the world today with a more universal appeal than Paul Robeson.

Celloist

Emmanuel Feuermann

Feuermann Will Be Here Dec. 16

Since his American debut six years ago with The New York Philharmonic symphony orchestra, Emanuel Feuermann has become recognized as a 'cello' without equal. Possibly no other has received such high praise from critics.

Mr. Feuermann is a political exile from Germany who has become an American citizen. Born in Austria, he made his debut as a soloist when eleven years old, with the Vienna symphony orchestra.

After that he appeared with orchestras in France, Germany, and Holland, and then gained a tremendous concert following by his recitals throughout Europe.

The appearance here is scheduled for December 16, and will be the last program of the autumn quarter.

Orientation

Master Organizer Schedules

Visit in November

A veteran master who has at a rehearsal of most of the famous organs of Belgium and central Europe, as well as having given hundreds of concerts in France, Italy, and the United States and Canada, will place himself at the Provo tabernacle organ on November 20, ready to show the power that has won him such a reputation as he has appeared.

Joseph Bonnet, the age of 54, was organist of the Church of St. Michel in Bordeaux, France. He became a pupil of Gounod, and he learned the "Secret des Concerts" organ technique.

His press acclaim has invariably been enthusiastic, and he is to be considered one of the "greats" in organ technique.

He is also a composer and a teacher of note.

World Traveler

First to Appear

The opening program of the B. Y. U. community concert association.

It belongs to Provo, Sherwood Eddy, author and world traveler, who has visited almost every major country in the world, meeting its leaders, and who has written more than a score of books on international, economic, social and religious questions.

Mr. Eddy has been to Europe 15 times, his last visit being in 1939 when he went to Russia with a group of writers and speakers. He was in Europe at the outbreak of war.

During the past summer he has been in Mexico studying the social changes taking place there.

He is also well acquainted with Asia, having lived in India for many years, and is an expert traveler of the rest of the continent.

Mr. Eddy is an experienced lecturer who has appeared at hundreds of universities, clubs, conferences, forums and conferences.

will continue his language studies at McGillian university.

Miss Brilla (Rosen) of the local organ builders department, has been studying at Chicago university this summer. She is planned to spend the winter in Canada, probably at McGill university.

Scheduled to Return

Fritz and Bruggnot

Piano Team Once More Ready

Fritz and Bruggnot, who last year appeared with Rudolph on the Y community concert program, will return this year on October 28 for a full evening of their key board cooperation.

Fritz is a Parisian and Bruggnot is an Italian, and they first played together quite by chance.

From the very start, however, the teamwork "clicked," and they have risen steadily to the heights of popularity.

Musician, authors, philosophers, poets, scientists—a wide variety is made to come, and each one has achieved in his own field a ranking with the best.

Professor John C. Swenson of the university library committee, who has been in the field of inquiry for 40 years, believes that "An all-time high will be reached," as far as this territory is concerned, with the program to be presented this year by the Brigham Young university community concert association.

The association, in addition to the program already announced, joins in a seasonal prize or two which will be awarded as soon as negotiations are concluded.

Of these scheduled to come are familiar to local audiences by their previous appearances on the Y community concert program.

They include, as the piano team, Fritz and Bruggnot, and Eddy Collier, foreign news anchor.

Others, like Paul Robeson and Sir Robert Wilkins, are almost as well known as though they had been here.

Not one of the many to come is not known and recognized in his own field.

A glance at the schedule reveals that it is already scheduled for the appearance, leaving few holes in the calendar.

B. Y. Prepares For First Night Game

Nevada Team To Battle Cougars Here

By Glen Gardner

The long-anticipated date to play college night football in Utah becomes a reality through the use of a large battery of football players, one of the "Y" stadium when the Cougars meet Nevada University here September 27 in this season's initial grid battle.

The novelty of attending this first night game, coupled with the fact that the Nevadans, located one of its strongest teams in history, lineup against the "Y" Cougars, the 7-0 defeat that they should draw a record-breaking crowd of Brigham Young nation's students and central Utah fans.

Dedication ceremonies for the installation of the lighting system will be an added feature in the event.

Impressive Record

Nevada last year, following its defeat by the Cougars, went on to four straight wins, including one from the United College of the Pacific, which beat the University of California last year. So with practically an all-varsity lineup this year, it is likely to be tough going for the Cougars because when they clash here two weeks from this Friday.

Already leading regular grid ball, the Wolves will meet San Francisco State in Reno September 2 in this initial game for both schools.

With only 30 men in uniform, coach Jim Aiken has been putting in charges through tough scrimmages, during which a number of men have shown great promise for the things this year.

24-pound pivot man, Art Korn, already has proved himself fast and very capable of protecting the passer or defender.

Another to see plenty of action this season is Dick Raess, who last year was chosen halfback on the official all-senior California junior college team. Aiken said this transfer makes his reputation as being able to get out and under Schlager is aggressive.

Backed by a year of varsity experience, Wes Schlager, 19-year-old veteran from Las Vegas, is leading scoring list for last season's team. He is considered one of the most aggressive linemen on the squad.

Also showing outstanding ability is a man who will probably continue one of the team's mainstays, Joe McDonald, Another lineman, who has had two years of varsity ball to his credit.

However, the Cougars will not appear inexperienced nor without plenty of strength when they meet the Wolves as twenty-two letter men from last year have returned to bolster the outlook on the '41 grid season. Letters already reported to Coach Eddie Kimball in preliminary practice and who will see some action in the backfield, against Nevada are:

The Line
Via the graduation route, the Cougars will be weakened somewhat by the loss of Juan Wenzel and Henry Leavitt, tackle; and William Davis, fullback. Colorful new uniforms will be exhibited for the first time when they play under the lights September 27. According to Coach Kimball, the uniforms will be jerseys and socks, orange slung in blue pants royal blue satin with orange.

COUGAR'S CLAW . . .

By L. Glen Starr

All aboard!

That good old Cougar hand-wagon has been rolled out once again for its personal parade, and although this might not be THE YEAR "Y" followers have been waiting for since 1918, it is at least a great year for Brigham Young University on the gridiron.

So climb aboard, because:

Coach Eddie R. Kimball expects all but three squadmen back for the 1940 campaign.

A promising sophomore squad is coming up to push at and the same time help the veterans.

The Cougar fighting spirit, which carried B.Y.U. much higher in the standings than the experts believed possible, is evident again with the top of the standings as its 1940 goal.

Kimball promises a wide-open, pleasing brand of football: fast, punting, speed, and deception—and of course, new, brilliant orange, blue, and white suits.

And—good news for "Y" fans—a spectacular home schedule is on the docket with four games slated here including two encounters under a brand new lighting system.

B. Y. U. should have a title contender in the Big Seven foot ball just now the Cougars will end up depends on the strength of the other teams—and from this early date, it looks as if Young U. will have plenty of competition.

As practice is just getting underway, here's your scribble summary of what might happen later on:

Colorado is the team to beat for the conference crown. With nearly every squadman back and under new coaching, the Buffs loom as the favorite to repeat their 1939 champion-ship performance.

Denver will be a strong threat for the title with better weather material and a big, fast line. Denver is the darkhorse team of the circuit.

Utah is strong—its usual—but the Redskins have a tough road ahead of them. They will be a top contender.

B. Y. U. rates a berth among the top teams because of experienced squad and a fighting spirit.

Colorado State is on the upswing, but the swing apparent. It won't be far enough in the upward direction.

Utah State will be about average, with ability to tip over the favorites or to lose to the lower outfits.

Wyoming looks what it takes to challenge for the title, but the Cowboys will improve as the season advances.

C.A.A. Grants 20 Annual "Y" Day Held at Saltair

Twenty aviation scholarships were made available to B. Y. U. students when the Civil Aeronautics Authority in Washington accepted the school's application for the annual "Y" day. Joe Bergh, state aeronautics director, and Major Mark Anderson of Payne, Idaho, were present.

The two units granted for flight training work are in addition to the 10 scholarships previously allowed. They were under a two-scholarship program. Dr. Wayne B. Hale of the physics department will probably direct the university classes. President H. H. Harris indicated, adding that details remain to be worked out.

The school deferred application until local airport facilities were improved. When the improvement program was launched and 10 scholarships granted, Provo, college officials made application for additional units.

Work is progressing on the Utah Lake Airport where general school and flight training will be given. Sixty youths on B. Y. U. are adding to the already constructed runways and other facilities, which includes a hangar now under construction.

Three planes will be used in instruction for army and navy aviators. Merrill Christensen and his wife, local aviators, intend to fly one of the planes out from a quarter of a mile, which they left last week.

The 20 scholarships under the aeronautics program will mean an expenditure for Provo of $10,000 from the government's pilot training appropriation.

Col. William Sticker with a full season football schedule, graded and sorted, will be given to B. Y. U. - Nevada game can be held by writing to Mr. Sticker, Alumni secretary, here at school.

Gridders Plan Cycling To Fall Practice

Two of the "Y" football players scheduled to arrive here any day don't plan to bring any equipment with them to the Cougar camp. The reason is that they are going to ride bicycles over the 40-mile distance from their homes in Edgemont, S.D., to Provo.

One of the cycling pair are George Wing, last year's seasonated left halfback, and Gerald Markham, early sophomore, both of whom were recruited by Coach Eddie Kimball.

Since their self-selected road work includes crossing several mountain passes, neither of the backfield adepts is likely to roll in with any spare tires—either under the middle or otherwise.

To cover the distance in the nine days following the first grid clash, they will have to average some 70 miles per day over all non-stop routes.

Wing is one of the colorful Cougs.

as who will be trained for anything that fall after leaving the "Y" camp in a 25-600 victory over Arizona State Teachers last year. He was injured in the game with Utah and so was unable to participate for the rest of the season. After the summer's rest and his hard workout, fans are looking for a display of more of his legendary end-field running in the night game with Nevada at the "Y" stadium on September 27.

Editor Hales Assures Blue Key Handbook

With ever half of the material already written and the remainder assigned, rapid progress is being made on the B.Y.U. student's handbook, and it will be ready for distribution by registration day, reports Whelan Hales, editor.

"It has been some time since the university issued regularly a book of this type and it is hoped that the need for one was satisfied when publication began again last year," comments Whelan.

Staff members include Marvin Smith, Alton Egan, and Wayne Booth.
